

Hi Bill,

SMART Education is certainly filling the need for risk writers, such as myself, for relevant and informative education re the Risk Insurance products that are available through insurance companies in today's market.

The analysis of each specific benefit, by outsourced non industry analysers, certainly engenders greater confidence that the information provided is not in any way more favourable for any particular insurer.

The education system and the exam structure is user friendly and it's great to receive those instant results for the work done.

Well done Bill,

Hi Bill

I trust this letter finds you well – words of congratulations regarding Smart Education – as you know my passion is risk insurance - until the arrival of this educational tool most of what I have learnt has come from my own research.

The problem simply was how to give weight to the fact that I choose to be a specialist risk adviser.

The answer is - I can now claim to my dealer group - to my clients and to ASIC, I have sat the exams on 18 companies' "Total Disability Definitions" and passed with 100%.

This is a very powerful statement to be able to make.

The other great advantage is the 12 CPD POINTS on offer.

Keep up the good work.
